WHAT WOULD THEY DO

If Coxe's Army Should Bring Its Things

And Settle Down in Washington to Stay,

THE GOOD CITIZENS

What Would They Do Then Poor Things.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—[Special.]—Congress and the Washington public have been for the past 10 days in much the same condition as the patriarch Job was while the messengers of evil were arriving. First came the news of one railroad strike, and then every morning and evening brought additional messages on the progress of Coxe's, Kelly's, Frye's and other armies, and then a messenger telling of the great railroad strike in the northwest, and while he was yet speaking there came another telling that 120,000 coal miners had quit work; that there was another decline in farm produce, and stocks in Wall street were depressed. The discussion in the senate by Messrs. Allen, Pepper, Hawley and others resulted as such things always do. The men who aimed to speak a good word for the invaders said, more in the heat of the debate than they intended and are denounced accordingly as demagogues, disturbers of the peace, apologists for anarchists and all the other pet names which are used in such cases.

Omens of Trouble.

Out of the hurly burly and experience with the first bodies to arrive came a very sensible conclusion on the part of the District government and federal authorities—that is, to do nothing, but be prepared to do everything if necessary. The capital police declare their ability to enforce the rules in the building, and outside the invaders can do as the workmen's association from Philadelphia did. No processions being allowed on the capitol grounds, these men marched in military order to the Peace monument in front of the Pennsylvania avenue entrance, then broke ranks and went up the steps and into the capitol as individuals. They made their protest, had an excursion, saw a good deal and possibly had some fun, but the results in legislation were told a century before by the poet who set forth how.

The king of France with forty thousand men.

Marched up the hill and then marched down again.

The workmen set a good precedent. Coxe's army and all the others will do the same thing and with the same results. Residents and casual visitors have tactfully agreed to give up the galleries and most of the other places about the capitol to the invaders, and it is quite likely that for two or three days of next week those classic halls will present a peculiar view of mottled humanity. So far good, and nobody is uneasy about that part of it, but suppose a few thousand of them should stay here until the bounty of their friends is exhausted and then try their mild form of blackmail on the residents. The very most that Colonel Redstone and his collaborators will promise is that the army will be fed by them for two days, and Coxe's army does not after he has ordered them at the foot of Capitol hill his connection with them is ended. The real wonder is that provisions enough have been contributed to feed the invaders two days, but Colonel Redstone promises that if their petition is not listened to and complied with in that time they will march right out of town again. It appears that they are a remarkably sanguine as well as a very accommodating set of reformers. After their repulse and retreat, says Redstone, will instantly follow a great popular uprising which will wipe the old parties out of existence, pulverize corruption, restore the reign of purity and justice and close the century with the opening of the workingman's millennium. Well, worse things might be possible.

The Tariff Discussion.

All this time the senate has continued to drone away on the tariff, sometimes with as many as 20 senators in the chamber, but often with only five; the house has hammered away on the appropriation bills, dragging into the discussion every possible political issue from the loyalty of a claimant in Tennessee to the contribution of would be Minister Van Allen and the honesty of John Wamamaker, and the plaintiff in Pollard versus Breckinridge has persistently urged a speedy settlement of the question of a new trial. Urged on by her eagerness, her attorneys have notified her opponents that argument thereon must begin today and be concluded as soon as possible. Public opinion in the meantime has not changed unless it be in the direction of emphasizing the justice of the verdict and concluding that the defendant is very unwise in wanting a new trial. In the senate Mr. Voorhees is confident that the discussion may yet be ended early in June, while Mr. Dolph is positive it will continue to September, and Mr. Allen says he has no reason why it should end at all till this congress expires. This is only what he has often said and backed it up by the statement that there are enough abled-bodied Republicans to keep the speechmaking going right on indefinitely. Of course he wants a closure rule, as Senator Hill does, and Mr. Voorhees is of the opinion that such a rule could be adopted on this bill after the debate has run well into the hottest weather.

A Compliment to Senator Lodge.

Of all the speeches so far delivered none has attracted such wide attention among the critics as those of Senators Lodge and Turpie. Mr. Lodge has a national reputation as writer and scholar, while Mr. Turpie has so far had but a local reputation, and that chiefly as a jurist. He is, however, a very remarkable scholar, probably the best informed man in the senate on art, architecture and history. He is the standard authority on all questions there concerning the great painters and architects, and in concise scholarly sentences his address has rarely been equaled. The demand for his speech is already great, and his exposition of what he considers true Democracy will be a campaign document. The senate committee on public lands has decided to favor the bill for settling the disputed claims arising under the timber culture act and will probably recommend some general measure for disposing of the arid land conditioned on guarantees that the grantees will establish some general system of reclamation. The house committee on irrigation of arid land is practically a unit against extending any government aid whatever, and so it is of no consequence what the senate wishes on that subject. Members from the far western states are, however, so earnest in favor of some general scheme of reclamation that they will take the best bill they can get now and trust to getting a better one from a Republican house of representatives, which they expect with certainty in 1895-7.

R. J. STEWART IN JAIL.

The A. O. U. W. Financier Says He Has Been Done a Great Wrong.

Robert J. Stewart, the defaulting treasurer of the two local lodges of the United Workmen, whose arrest was announced in last night's JOURNAL, has been confined in the Shawnee county jail since being taken into custody, and the probabilities are that he will stay there for some time to come. Stewart is unable to get bondsmen in Topeka, and his only hope of freedom is that some of his wife's relatives may come to his rescue and furnish the requisite $1,000 security.

Mr. Stewart was seen in the corridor of the county jail today by a JOURNAL reporter. He was walking up and down the corridor restlessly in deep thought. He was spoken to four times before he realized that he was being addressed.

"I haven't got anything to say," he said. "I have been done a great injustice."

"What is the injustice?"

"That's all right; I haven't a thing to say. I have been done a great wrong, a great wrong."

"Since your admissions of guilt, do you intend to plead guilty?"

"I don't want to talk about it, and that settles it."

TOPEKA'S HOME GUARD

This Town Into Coxeism to a Limited Extent.

MEETING TO BE HELD TONIGHT

At Representative Hall at Which the Home Guard of the Commonwealth of Christ Will Be Organized.

The second meeting in Topeka in the interest of the Commonwealth of Christ will be held tonight at Representative hall at the state house.

According to the plan outlined by Commander G. C. Clemens, of the Kansas contingent of General Coxe's army, tonight's meeting will be one of organization.

Mr. Clemens, as he said in his speech last Saturday night, does not propose to lead a foot brigade on to Washington, but his plan is to organize a home guard and tonight's meeting will be for the purpose of completing the formation of the home guard.

Noah Allen, who has charge of the arrangements for tonight's meeting, says it will be a state meeting and that he has assurance that Coxe's army will be present from Emporia and several other neighboring towns, for the purpose of getting pointers for the organization of local divisions of the Kansas Home Guard.

Tonight's speeches are to be limited to ten minutes each and all speakers are expected to sit down when they get through. Col. Fred Closs will make a speech tonight, as will also John Madden, the man who is talked of as a candidate for congress in this district against Charles Curtis. General Artz and G. C. Clemens will be on hand and will talk as usual. It is also expected that Albert Griffin and Frank Forrest will occupy ten minutes each.

While the meeting is in progress tonight at Representative hall, the Southwestern Kansas army will be organized at Wichita under the leadership of I. P. Campbell, a Populist lawyer, who is being boomed for the nomination of attorney general on the anti-administration ticket.

At a meeting of the Populist league last night the Coxe meeting of tonight was the one theme of discussion. Gen. Artz made the principal speech, in which he said he hoped to see 500 men ready to enlist at tonight's meeting. In conclusion he said: "If we are refused a hearing by congress then 'By the Eternal' they will hear a racket in this country that will cause Coxe's army to sink into insignificance."

A Late New Industry.

The Central Manufacturing Company opened its business about two months ago, and a JOURNAL representative, at the request of Mr. Wadleigh, the manager, went up into their working department, at 733 Kansas avenue, this morning and was surprised at the work they are turning out and the number of people he keeps employed all the time making shirts and ladies' muslin underwear.

The company manufactures all kinds of men's white and colored shirts at all prices. Every article is under the personal inspection of the manager, Mr. Wadleigh, and this in itself will guarantee the work done to be first-class. In addition to the management of the company Mr. Wadleigh has taken the agency of that well known Plymouth Rock Pants company of Boston. He has a full line of samples and will take your order for a pair of trousers made to fit you at $3 and up per pair. Mr. Wadleigh is now in production to Topeka people, as he has lived here for the past fifteen years and has held responsible positions with some of our leading dry goods concerns.

NEWS OF KANSAS.

Public Meeting to be Held at Wichita Tonight

To Discuss Coxe Movement—Called By a Populist.

OTHER STATE NEWS.

Programme for Commencement Week at State University.

WICHITA, April 28.—The local believers in the Coxe movement will meet tonight to express the public sentiment of Wichita on the Coxe movement. I. P. Campbell, the well known Populist, has issued a call in which he says:

"There will be a public meeting at the city building, Saturday, April 28, 1894, at 8 p. m., for the purpose of giving expressions on the movement known as the 'Coxe movement.' Let us come together as friends and citizens irrespective of previous condition to do what little we may to direct both the movement, for we cannot control it, and their reception at Washington. This is a matter that concerns the welfare of every citizen."

This meeting has been in contemplation for some time and some red hot speeches are expected to be made at it.

It may also result in the formation of a division of the army here. Quite a number desire to go to join the commonwealth, but as yet no leader has been found. A good opportunity is offered to somebody who is thirsting for passing fame and it is a matter of surprise why some one has not already offered to embrace it.

STATE PROHIBITION CONVENTION.

It Will Be Held at Emporia About the 12th of June.

EMPORIA, April 28.—J. F. Morrison, chairman of the Prohibition county committee, received a note from Dr. Newton, of Ottawa, chairman of the Prohibition party state central committee, stating that Emporia had been selected as the place for holding the Prohibition state convention.

The date has not yet been definitely settled, but it is thought the convention will meet about June 12th. This is the second big state gathering secured by Emporia this year, the Congressional association being the first.

An extra effort will be made by the Prohibitionists and it is believed that there will be from 300 to 500 delegates in attendance. Arrangements are already being made for their entertainment, and it is thought that Emporia will be able to care for all who come.

BETRAYED BY HIS DOG.

A Wheat Thief at McPherson Captured in His Hiding Place.

McPHERSON, April 28.—Frank Brown and William Barclay, two young men of Castle township, have been arrested here charged with stealing wheat of E. L. Alger, near Wheatland. The wheat was hauled to Galva and sold. The parties unloaded in the basin to enable them to get through. The men returned to McPherson after they had disposed of the grain and were arrested towards evening.

One of the men hid in the lumber yard corner of Ash and Marlin streets. His whereabouts were betrayed by his dog which was tied at one of the ivery stables. Being unloosed the dog followed by the officers went directly to his master.

A warrant was issued charging the same parties and A. Brown jr., and a brother of Barclay's with being the accomplices of the recently burglarized Clarence Hawkins's hardware store in Marquette. The parties are all under arrest except A. Brown jr. Most of the stolen hardware has been recovered.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Leavenworth Court House Badly Damaged and the Court Badly Scared.

LEAVENWORTH, April 28.—During the severe rain and electrical storm which occurred here the court house was struck by lightning but only slightly damaged. The shaft struck the flag staff first, slivering it considerably and then jumped onto the cupola and tore off a few slate shingles. From the cupola it bounded onto the tin roof and was deflected, doing no further mischief.

District court was in session at the time and it is said that the lawyers paused and Judge Myers came near losing his dignity. Everybody in the building was more or less shocked.

A HOWARD ELOPEMENT.

The Wife Runs Off With Another Man and Takes Husband's Watch.

WICHITA, April 28.—L. E. Frank of Howard, Kan., is in the city and secured the services of a detective to search the town for a missing wife who was supposed to have eloped Tuesday night, with one James S. Newby, a traveling salesman for a Philadelphia shoe house.

He didn't care so much for his wife as he did for a gold watch and $250 in money which she took with her. He traced

IT HAS A BIG CLASS.

The Hahnemann School of Medicine Which Celebrated Last Night.

The Hahnemann School of Medicine closed its successful year's work last evening with a very enjoyable party, held at the office of Dr. Eva Harding.

Dr. Harding's four, rooms were tastefully decorated with cut flowers and palms, and the evening's pleasures consisted in a few speeches and a general social time.

Dr. Eva Harding and her sister, Dr. Agnes Haviland, were the best of hostesses.

The Hahnemann school is the only homeopathic school in the city. It was organized last fall, and the lectures were delivered in the evenings. Although this school is yet in its infancy, there are thirty-two matriculates. The following are their names:

Mesdames Nicoll, Wadleigh, Bidwell, Carlisle, Cooley, McKinstry, West, Cady, Smith, Sherbourne, and Messrs. Avery, Ashpole, Bowes, Franks, Sherbourne, Wadleigh, Yates, Sheets, Wickham, Chel, Roberts, Cady, Francis, McClure, Lindell, Hendricks, Smith and Bomgardner.

As this is the first year of the school there were no graduates.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake and sherry punch, made according to Dick Hodgkin's latest recipe, were served.

The case of Fanny Wright, charged with attempted murder, came up in Justice Chesney's court today, but was continued until May 8th, because the condition of "Min" Saunders, the complaining witness, is still too serious to allow her to leave her house. The doctor says she can't get out for two weeks.

Senator John Martin has offered an amendment to the sundry appropriation bill, to allow $15,000 for the purpose of putting an elevator in the Topeka federal building, and also to pay for a new boiler and other improvements.
